Notes From Democratic National Headquarters

New York, Sept. 19—The tour of William Jennings Bryan throughout the west, in behalf of Governor Wilson, is being made at great personal sacrifice to the peerless leader from Nebraska.

After opening his campaign in Denver, on September 14th, Mr. Bryan whirled through Colorado, Utah, Montana, California, Nevada and Wyoming. He will return to Lincoln on October 2nd, and expects to devote the rest of his time to the campaign in the middle west and the east.

"Mr. Bryan is giving up at least $15,000 by giving all his time to the campaign," said Congressman S. A. Burleson, chairman of the speakers' bureau.

Mr. Bryan has written a number of very gracious letters to Governor

Wilson and to members of the national campaign committee and said that he wanted to give all his time from September 14th to November 5th to Wilson and Marshall.

"Mr. Bryan has also contributed $1,000 and his work in the west is sure to be most effective."

In Iowa four years ago Taft received 275,000 votes and Bryan 210,000. This year the voting for the three candidates is estimated as follows:

Wilson	230,000
Taft	160,000
Roosevelt	100,000

The above figures are not an idle approximation, but rather they are based upon polls made in every section of the state by painstaking canvassers, to determine the exact situation in Iowa.

The reports received at democratic national headquarters in New York have been of such a character that the leaders of the Wilson and Marshall campaign are putting much reliance on the reports received from Iowa.

New Yorkers are flocking to a big free show these days in crowds that are making the theatrical managers green with envy. The new attraction is the tariff exhibit or tariff chamber of horrors opened in a big store on Union Square under the auspices of the democratic national committee. On the first day of the exhibit nearly 10,000 persons crowded in and since then a steady throng has filed in and out of the place.

It has been a cosmopolitan crowd. There are Jews and Italians from the east side, an army of clerks and salaried men, and women by the score. Now and then an automobile runs up and some prosperous looking folks pile out and mingle with the crowd.

The center of attraction is the model flat, fully equipped with its kitchen, dining room and bedroom. The crowds linger about the flat and study the different articles in common use, each of which is labeled with its price and the tariff tax which shows why the article costs more than it should. On the household articles the tariff taxes range from 25 to 65 per cent., and on the clothing displayed—for the flat is inhabited by a small family of wax dummies—from 50 to 90 per cent.

But the things that attract most attention are a baby carriage and a crib, on which the tariff tax is 45 per cent, and some baby clothes, on which the consumer gets stung with a tax of 90 per cent. The women are particularly struck with these articles and express great indignation at what they call "putting a shameful tax on the babies."

"I don't know much about politics," declared one woman, after studying the model flat for half an hour, "but I'm going right home to my husband, who is a republican, and tell him he must vote for Wilson or the babies and I will go on strike."

Another article that attracts much attention is a dotted Swiss dress. The material, made in New England, costs $2.75 in the United States and only $1.87 in England, because of the high tariff.

Congressman William C. Redfield, the democratic tariff expert, made a big hit at one of the noonday meetings of the exhibit, with a basket of potatoes. After pointing out that the tariff tax on potatoes was 24 times the tax on real estate in New York City, the congressman showed that during the first three months of this year, when the crop shortage made necessary large importations of potatoes from Scotland, Americans paid $18,733 in tariff taxes on potatoes every day.

Before the exhibit opened, the committee was somewhat doubtful whether the people could be sufficiently interested in common household articles to learn the tariff lesson from them. But the big, serious, crowds have dispelled their doubts. The tariff exhibit promises to be a great vote getter for the democrats in New York.

A Home Institution For Home Men. It has been said that the nearest home on Caddo street is the one built by a share holder in the Peoples Building and Loan Association, with money secured from that institution. Be that as it may, this home is evidence of two things, that this association is a help to the one who would help himself and that it only loans money on the best security.

The lot upon which the house in question was built was owned in fee simple by the borrower and the monthly payments which he is making are rendering the security more and more gilt edged every day.

For a safe investment every day, one where your money is secured by steadily advancing real estate values it would be hard to find a better opportunity than is offered by this company.

The president of the association, as well as the secretary is a man who is known to every one in Ardmore as a straightforward and an upright business man. The people of this city recognized his integrity and ability as a business man when they elected him their mayor and in the business world he is recognized as a success. This can also be said of the secretary, W. A. Edwards, who will gladly give any full information upon the plans and ideas of the association.

Few, if any, medicines, have met with the uniform success that has attended the use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. The remarkable cures of colic and diarrhoea which it has effected in almost every neighborhood have given it a wide reputation. For sale by all dealers.

The Earning Capacity of a Dollar.

Banks may break and railroad stocks depreciate in value; the weather may affect crop conditions and sway thereby the money market to an unhealthy inflation or cause a shrinkage to a point several degrees below zero. One such shrinkage alone would carry to destruction thousands upon thousands of investors of all degree, from the one operating upon 'change with his millions to the one who plays a few dollars on the curb or through the tickers in the bucket shops.

Dollars were made to supply our daily wants and to earn more dollars. The earning capacity of a dollar is only limited by the judgment used by its owner in investing it. The man who uses good, sound horse sense in seeking a place for the investment of his "nest egg" may after that sit in the shade and watch his surplus grow and the original dollars multiply in a healthy ratio.

No investment is safe unless it is guarded by a good and non-shrinkable security. Real estate is the one thing which always has and always will be an absolutely gilt edged security.

Manufactories may burn and strikes and other labor troubles put railways out of commission and demoralize their securities in the financial world, but real estate always remains the same. Its market price like Tennyson's brook "goes on forever" just the same.

Anyone who would like to place their money, or any part of it, in a sound and secure proposition would do well to see W. A. Edwards, secretary of the Peoples Building and Loan Association.

The implicit confidence that many people have in Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is founded on their experience in the use of that remedy and their knowledge of the many remarkable cures of colic, diarrhoea and dysentery that it has effected. For sale by all dealers.

WILSON-MARSHALL CAMPAIGN FUND.

Woodrow Wilson is not the candidate for the big high-tariff-fostered corporations, so they will contribute nothing toward the necessary expenses of his campaign.

Should they offer to contribute, he would refuse their money and send it back.

The corporations do not want a president who is particular about where campaign contributions come from.

Therefore, they do not want Woodrow Wilson.

Woodrow Wilson is the candidate of progress, which means that he stands for fair play and a square deal for all; special privileges for none.

The people must supply the Wilson campaign fund with their dollars, fifty-cent pieces, or whatever they can afford to give.

You are urged to contribute, no matter what the amount.

The Ardmoreite will publish in this column the names and amounts given by democrats in this portion of the state.

Running up and down stairs, sweeping and bending over making beds will not make a woman healthy or beautiful. She must get out of doors, walk a mile or two every day and take Chamberlain's Tablets to improve her digestion and regulate her bowels. For sale by all dealers.
